My work is about rhythm and movement through space regardless of scale, media, or technique. It is about the juxtaposition of intersecting planes and volumes, but it is ultimately about the object. The techniques and materials used add to and enrich the imagery but are secondary to the total object. There is no intended esoteric or emotional overtone, only the object in space.

Investigating non-traditional approaches, both for their own sake and to extend techniques and formats beyond the confines of their purpose, constitutes the main motivation behind my current work.
